

PAIN FROM SEVERED LIMBS.

Persons Who Claimed to Suffer from Positions of Buried Members.

The feet of Josiah West, who met with that terrible accident on the railroad, a few days ago, yesterday taken by his wife to Fremont, N. P., for burial. When the unfortunate man regained consciousness at the hospital the morning following the loss of his limbs, he complained that his toes pained him a great deal, that they seemed badly cramped, and he requested that some one move them for him. At that time the feet were tied in a bag and the hospital people did not know where they were to be found. It seems simply incredible that the position or condition of a severed member of a person's body should affect in the least the sensibilities of the owner; but suffice it to say that the undertaker with whom the writer conversed, affirms that he personally knows of numerous cases where persons who have had a limb declared they felt pain from an awkward position which the member was in.

He cited an instance of a man who lost an arm in this city last fall. After being amputated, it was sent to the undertaker for burial. It was placed in a box the back of the hand being down, remaining in this position for several hours. The owner of the severed member, during that time, experienced pain in the arm, which grew so unbearable that at last he asked a friend to go to the undertaker and see about the limb. This was at 3:45 in the afternoon. The friend was busy and did not start off for half an hour, and during that time the pain had ceased and the wounded man said he need not go. He went, however, and found that the undertaker had just finished caring for the arm; that it had been placed in an easy and natural position in the box. The time when the arm was changed from the awkward position to the latter coincided exactly with the time when the owner had felt the pain leave him. When the friend reported to the unfortunate man, he (the latter) said he knew just how the arm was placed, that he could feel its position and correctly described the same.

Another case cited by the undertaker was about a man who lost an arm above the elbow. The member was given to the undertaker and buried. The man subsequently went to Lawrence to live. About a year after the accident he paid the undertaker a visit and told him his arm for a long time had pained him a great deal, that the fingers seemed cramped, and that he wanted to see the buried member. Accordingly it was dug up and examined and, strange to say, found to have the fingers tightly turned up towards the palm, as the man had said they felt to him. The fingers were straightened and the arm consigned again to the ground and no more trouble was experienced from it.

GHOSTS ON THE RAIL.

The Hounded Express Car of the Pacific Slope—Incipient Demonstration.

Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express car No. 5 is said to be haunted. The messengers on the run between San Francisco and Los Angeles have exercised over the fact for some time, and when the car was sent to Sacramento several weeks ago to be overhauled and repaired, they all expressed much satisfaction, and were firm in the belief that the car-builder would kill the ghost and return the car to the rail free from all demoralizing influence. In this they were disappointed, for the messenger who left San Francisco on Tuesday night was visited by the unseen power and put to a deal of trouble. The ghost seemed to be in the boxes of freight about, tolled bells and made sweet music, and called the messenger by name. On the last trip the car made before it was taken from the track the messenger heard strange noises on the roof. He thought there were on his duty, and he came to the conclusion that robbers were waiting an opportunity for entering the car. He opened the door and took a look at both ends, but found everything quiet. He could see nothing unusual and, turned, closed the door, and was walking back to the mailing table, when down came a box of cooked shrimps and a badbox. The freight was pushed about, and finally left in the same place. The messenger was included in the train as the train was nearing Terrace station, in the eastern part of the state, and the messenger had about made up his mind to take to the sagebrush, when all was still again.

On one occasion when they had a corpse in transit, the head and trunk of a man's body was seen to rise up from the casket, take a good look around the car, calling the messenger by name, and then vanish. The car was in the train several years ago, when an accident occurred just west of Truckee, killing Conductor Marshall and an express messenger, and since that time these mysterious noises have been frequent, much to the discomfort of the occupants. The express boys say car No. 5 is known to all the company's employees, and they all tell the same story for the truth.

It was adding insult to injury to bombard Alexandria with the Alexandria and the Sultan.

An irresistible went clean through the inflexible, which was contrary to natural philosophy. There is really a bond of sympathy between Guatemala and the United States. Guatemala has no navy.

An ant weighing 24,000 pounds has just been cast in Pottsville, Pennsylvania, said to be the heaviest casting ever made in the world.

On the 21st of July, 1,517 years ago, the city of Alexandria lost 50,000 lives by a tremendous earthquake, which violently perturbed the Mediterranean.

The city of Alexandria, Egypt, up to quite recently had eight daily newspapers. The editors and reporters are just now taking a week or two off—as far as they can get.

VERA SASSOLICH, the assassin of the Russian chief of police, looks like a Quakeress. She lives at Geneva on a pension, edits a nihilist sheet, dresses shabbily, and is apparently too timid to open her mouth.

THERE is a probability of still another state ticket in Pennsylvania. A convention of all the trade and labor organizations in the state is to be held at Philadelphia, on Monday, August 28, to consider the question of nominating a labor ticket. The greenback ticket, it is thought, will not be introduced.

The costliest coffin in this country are cheap affairs when contrasted with some to be found abroad. In the tomb in the cathedral at Milan, the body of Cardinal Borromeo is inclosed in a crystal casket, inclosed in a gold and silver trimmings, set with precious stones, at a cost of $800,000.

The success of the Paris Salon for the present year has been decided. The total receipts amounted to about $2,000,000, and over half of this sum was clear profit. The exhibition was managed, as it was managed last year, by the artists themselves. The society formed by the artists has now a capital of $2,000,000.

An American by the name of Livingstone, who has lived in Florence during the past thirty years, is seen almost every day driving twenty horses—ten spans attached to an ordinary wagon—and he manages them with perfect ease. The harness is quite curious in its construction, the purpose of driving so many horses at once.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR refuses to transfer to the white house any of the pictures with which the walls of his New York home are adorned, as he holds that house sacred to the memory of his dead wife, but gladly accepted the loan of a picture from Mrs. Arthur, who is an old personal friend, and who sent the works of his own brush.

The Economists society, of Beaver county, Pennsylvania, is nearing extinction, as the surviving members are all old and no new ones are admitted. It was founded in 1800 as an Adventist colony by George Rapp, who brought 125 families of converts from Germany. They broke their marriage ties, pooled their money, amounting to $50,000, and lived in common. But if their number had dwindled their property has not, and the society now owns $300,000. A man who succeeded Rapp as his share, and if he gets it, similar divisions will soon almost empty the Economist treasury.

GENTLEMEN: I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I derived almost immediate and wonderful relief, and I found that my mental and moral powers were not permanently impaired. I have used three bottles of the Tonic. Since taking it I have done twice the work that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with double the ease. With the tranquil ease and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the Tonic has not done the work, I know not what. I give it heartily.

GO AND SEE

PICKETT'S JEWELRY BOOM!

Which was only started a few days ago, has already brought good results. His store, every one knows, is at No. 5 Whitehall street, is crowded every day, and the sales foot up to Mr. Pickett's entire satisfaction, which compelled him to order a new stock of goods that will be open on Monday. If you are in want of a solid gold ring, see of

JEWELRY, N. CLACE AND LOCKET, or a pair of Bracelets, do not fail to call early and get first choice. He has some magnificent designs in Necklaces, Lockets and Bracelets. He has also received a large stock of the celebrated Meriden Britania Gold and silver plated ware, which will also be open on Monday. The 1847 Rogers Bro's Spoons, Forks and Knives, are the only Rogers Bro's goods which made the world wide reputation, and are now manufactured by the Meriden Britania Co., and for sale at my store. Be not induced to buy others not stamped 1847 Rogers Bro's.

A. F. PICKETT,

NO. 5 WHITEHALL STREET.

P. S.—A full line of the finest Imported Spectacles and Eye Glasses can also be found at my place, which I guarantee to give satisfaction for five years.
